

Editor's Note

In this issue, we have several interesting articles summarize recent science including COVID-19 mortality and others interesting articles on various aspects of medical science. In addition, we have planned to expand our affiliation with Elsevier Publishing which is a work in progress to help make our journal become visible in international community. During the past 3 difficult years, we hope that our future will become brighter and brighter from now on.

Anucha Apisarnthanarak, M.D.
Professor in Infectious Diseases
Editor-in-Chief
Asian Medical Journal and Alternative Medicine (AMJAM)